

COACHING FOR COLLEGE e-Tip Sheet for parents who have a student preparing for college

Beckon Call presents
COACHING FOR COLLEGE e-Tip Sheet
for Parents, like you, who have a student preparing for college

April

College Testing with the SAT and ACT

College testing takes place several times a year and another round of tests is coming up this spring. I often get questions from parents who are concerned about the testing procedure. Some of their questions include:

- Which test do the colleges prefer?
- What is the difference between the SAT and ACT?

You get the picture. The tests cost money. The preparation and anxiety for the tests are stressful for your teen and for you. And finally, how many Saturday mornings can your teen test or retest before the whole college admission thing goes stale and repetitious.

So, in addition to sharpening the number 2 pencils, having new batteries for the calculator, taking a snack and water to the test, and getting a good night's rest...here's some helpful insight regarding college testing.

COLLEGE PREFERENCE

Traditionally, the SAT was the test of choice for private and east and west coast schools while the ACT was the preference for the Midwest. Now, more colleges are accepting both test results and an increasing number of students are taking the ACT. My advice, If you plan to attend college in the Midwest, just take the ACT. I think taking both the ACT and SAT is good experience to see the difference in the testing rigor. If you want to keep your options open for applying to schools around the country, this is a helpful tactic.

THE DIFFERENCE

ACT includes a science reasoning test, SAT does not.
ACT includes trigonometry questions in the math section, SAT does not.
SAT tests much more vocabulary than the ACT.

Feel your teen could use a jumpstart for the college planning process? Perhaps as the parent, you realize you could use a tune-up on your career path as well or want to prepare to become an Empty Nexter®. Contact Beckon Call and let's talk!

Coaching for College e-Tip Sheet® is written by Barbara Wulf. Send questions, comments, and article ideas to: bwulf@beckoncall-coach.com or call 920-725-2930.

COACHING FOR COLLEGE e-Tip Sheet for parents who have a student preparing for college

ACT tests English grammar and reading, SAT focuses on vocabulary and reading.
SAT has a guessing penalty, ACT does not.
SAT has a penalty for wrong answers, ACT does not.

ACT is a content-based, straightforward exam whereas the SAT tests critical thinking and problem solving and the style of the test is “tricky with distracters.”
SAT generally poses more of a time challenge for students.
Scoring: ACT is 200-800 for Math and for Verbal, added together for a composite score. Median is about 1000. The SAT is 1-36 for each subject with an average taken for a composite score. Median is about 21.

Many students find they score higher on one test versus the other depending on what kind of test taker they are. So, depending on the student’s strengths and weaknesses, the student will probably perform better on one test than the other.

Students can take free practice tests online to get familiar with the directions and gain some testing savvy regarding test strategies and guessing. Visit www.act-sat-prep.com or www.kaptest.com and get prepping.
Source: ACT SAT Online Preparation

IN THE NEWS...

The state of Maine is trying something new this spring by requiring all high school juniors to take the SAT on a Saturday morning. The test can help students get a jump on a college acceptance letter next year while ensuring their school meets federal and state education standards. The SAT will be used to replace their 11th grade Maine Educational Assessment and the test cost of $41.50 will be paid for by the state and support their efforts for the No Children Left Behind legislation.

According to the Portland Press Herald, Maine has a lower rate of students attending college as compared to the other New England states. This initiative hopes to help raise the rate and possibly encourage more students to apply to a college. Students who miss the testing due to work or other necessary responsibilities will be given the chance to test in May. Other states will be watching how this works and might follow suit. So, it looks like college testing can have a dual purpose. (Oh, the good news... students will get Monday off to compensate for the mandatory Saturday test date!)
Source: Portland Press Herald, Mark Peters – Writer

©2006 Coaching for Coaching e-Tip Sheet is produced by Beckon Call.

Feel your teen could use a jumpstart for the college planning process? Perhaps as the parent, you realize you could use a tune-up on your career path as well or want to prepare to become an Empty Nester®. Contact Beckon Call and let’s talk!

Coaching for College e-Tip Sheet® is written by Barbara Wulf. Send questions, comments, and article ideas to: bwulf@beckoncall-coach.com or call 920-725-2930.

COACHING FOR COLLEGE e-Tip Sheet
for parents who have a student preparing for college

You are receiving this e-Tip because you signed up to receive the monthly information.

To learn more about my career services, professional individual & small group coaching, Coaching for College for high school students, articles, teleclasses and speaking, please go to www.beckoncall-coach.com. I invite your feedback and questions.

Please forward this e-newsletter to others who can use the information. To unsubscribe, send a message to bwulf@beckoncall-coach.com with "Unsubscribe" in the subject line.

PRIVACY POLICY: I never rent, trade or sell my email list to anyone for any reason whatsoever.

Barbara Wulf MS, CPCC, GCDF
Beckon Call
Career Services & Coaching for College
Orono, MN 55356
www.beckoncall-coach.com
920-725-2930

Feel your teen could use a jumpstart for the college planning process? Perhaps as the parent, you realize you could use a tune-up on your career path as well or want to prepare to become an Empty Nester®. Contact Beckon Call and let's talk!

Coaching for College e-Tip Sheet© is written by Barbara Wulf. Send questions, comments, and article ideas to: bwulf@beckoncall-coach.com or call 920-725-2930.